Who we are

Aldworth James & Bond is an award-winning and highly experienced fabrication company. We offer specialist manufacturing for custom builds and installations. Our focus is on delivering projects safely, to programme and within budget for our clients. We are a reliable creative organisation, operating with commercial awareness and team ambition. Our purpose is to consciously resolve the challenge of making things responsibly.

Our approach

Production is at the heart of what we do at Aldworth James & Bond. We provide designers and architects with the means to progress their ideas from concept to technical build stage by creating the crucial link between design and manufacture.

For principal contractors, our professional working methods and compliance ensures a smooth production phase and project delivery.
